

Bradenton Road Project Update for the week of September 15, 2014

Tomorrow the contractor will be connecting the 12" water line at 47th Street on the west side.

This will cause a temporary shift in traffic lanes during this work, which is expected to take about six hours, from 9 am to 3pm.

There will be flagpersons on site to assist motorists in making traffic movements thru this intersection. All movements will be able to be made, just a little differently.

The flaggers will help you negotiate the work area during the six hour work period. After the water line is connected, the traffic will revert back to the diversion that has been in use for a while.

There will be some disruption but the effort is expected to cause minimal delays to traffic and all existing movements may be made.

Numerous workers and equipment will be working in a limited area, so added caution would be advisable.

Thank you for your due care.
